Coed Re-admitted By Court Expelled

Action Taken Because of Girl's Charges

Expulsion Voted After Ruling by Federal Judge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama today expelled Negro coed Autherine Lucy a few hours after a federal judge had ordered her re-admitted to classes despite open-court warnings she might be killed by a mob.

No formal announcement was made by the university, but it was learned Miss Lucy was expelled because of the charges she made against university officials in connection with her Federal Court action seeking readmission.

The expulsion was voted by a university board of trustees in a secret meeting here Wednesday night, within hours after Federal Judge Hobart Grooms ordered her readmitted to the university by 9 a. m. Monday.

The 26-year-old Negro student was excluded from classes two weeks ago after three days of rioting accompanied her arrival at the university in Tuscaloosa, Ala., for classes.

Her attorneys promptly brought contempt proceedings against university officials. The original accusation accused them of conspiracy, of using the rioting as a subterfuge for ousting the Negro student.

Next Step Unknown
At the opening of Wednesday's hearing before Judge Grooms, the conspiracy charges were withdrawn. Miss Lucy's attorneys said no evidence could be found to support them. Attorneys for the university protested in vain that the charges had been spread over the world and that they were entitled to a chance to answer them.

Grooms conferred today with university attorneys and then announced that he had been "advised" that the university had expelled Miss Lucy. The judge said the next step would have to be taken by attorneys for the Negro coed.

University attorneys declined all comment as they left the judge's office.

How to Alleviate Unemployment
A Common Problem

STILL MORE ABOUT OUR AREA: This is the second of two submitted editorials about our Egypt economy. The first ran Tuesday.

"There is nothing wrong with southern Illinois that a few thousand jobs wouldn't cure. What do we do to get these jobs?"

"All communities have their own particular problems. The communities of this area have very common and big problems — how to earn a living and stay in the area. Thousands of people are of the opinion that something should be done to alleviate our unemployment situation. A very few have tried various things. A few more have criticized the efforts. Many, many people have done nothing but sit by in a seemingly unconcerned manner, realizing our situation but doing nothing about it."

"Into which group do you fit?"

"Why do we act so unconcerned?"

"The big question is 'What can I do about it?' The answer is: 'I can't, and you can't, but WE can'."

"How can we solve our problems? Common sense tells us that people must be informed as to what they can do. Common sense tells us that a problem as big as our unemployment situation cannot be solved overnight."

"Common sense also tells us that to solve a common problem we must have a unit of purpose in those problems, that to be effective it must have a continued united interest."

"It tells us that any program designed for such a task costs money, that if industry locates anywhere in our area—all will benefit in various degrees."

"Operation Grass Roots" is your opportunity to be a part of the solution of our common problem. You will hear more of it later."

Red Cross Drive Gets Under Way In Saline County

Workers Meet for Kick-Off Coffees In Four Places

The Red Cross drive for funds began in Saline county today with "kick-off coffees" held in Harrisburg, Eldorado, Galatia and Carrier Mills.

John Murphy, chairman of the drive in this county, requested an all-out effort by the workers and the public to reach the quotas. Fred Armistead, principal of the Junior high school, spoke to the workers at Eldorado and Galatia, and Al Adams of Eldorado addressed workers at the Harrisburg and Carrier Mills meetings. There was a good attendance at each of the meetings.

Murphy pointed out that if Saline county contributes as it has in the past four or five years the total for all those years would not equal the amount the Red Cross spent in Saline county for relief following the 1937 flood.

Quotas and chairman for each township are as follows: Harrisburg, 18 chairmen previously named, $6,250; Eldorado, Ralph Bean and Bernard Tanner, $3,250; Carrier Mills, Van B. McDonald, $1,000; Galatia, Jack Large, $400; Raleigh, Bert Jones, $150; Stonefort, Eckert Oxment, $100; Tate, no chairman, $100; Long Branch, no chairman, $200; Rector, Mrs. James Garner, $100; Brushy, Mrs. Dewey Dallas, $150; Cottage, Ben Wintzer, $150; Independence, Tolbert Syers and Herman McFarlin, $100; Mountain, Guy DeNeal and Blanche Aydelott, $100.

Health Issue to Boomerang, Hall Says; Predicts Nixon on Ticket

Nixon Future In Doubt as Running-Mate

Dewey Seen as Substitute if VP Forced Out

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is today's election-year storm center.

If he is forced off the 1956 Republican presidential ticket, a likely substitute would be former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York. Dewey probably would accept.

Some of Nixon's friends fear that the movement to bounce him got a green light Wednesday in President Eisenhower's announcement that he would accept renomination, but leave the selection of a vice-president up to the Republican National Convention.

Some of Nixon's adverse critics read it the other way—as a solid endorsement of the vice president.

The facts are that Mr. Eisenhower emphatically praised Nixon's ability and his performance as vice president but refused to commit himself when asked if he wanted him on the ticket again. Time for that, said the President, is after the Republican National Convention has nominated a presidential candidate.

Refuses To Commit Self
Mr. Eisenhower's refusal to commit himself on a running mate is sufficient to put new muscle and enthusiasm in the organized effort to ditch Nixon. Some of the President's longtime military associates and more recent golf cronies are active in the movement against the vice president.

They will get some immediate encouragement, at least, from Mr. Eisenhower's refusal to commit himself on a running mate is sufficient to put new muscle and enthusiasm in the organized effort to ditch Nixon. ### Girl, 17, Proposes To Sweetheart Over Radio; He Accepts

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Shirley Fisher, 17, took advantage of Leap Year Day to propose to her sweetheart over the radio Wednesday.

She got her man, even though the flabbergasted swain gulped in surprise when he heard Shirley's plea coming from his car radio.

Shirley wasted no words in putting the big question to 19-year-old Marlin Green.

"Marlin, this is Shirley," she said. "And I hope you're interested in getting married."

"If you are, call me at the station. I love you and I hope your answer will be yes."

Shirley showed he is good husband material by obeying Shirley's instruction to the letter. He said he would make her a June bride.

Democrats to Exploit Issue of Part-Time President Against Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats squared off today to exploit President Eisenhower's health as an issue in a campaign against a "part-time" president.

Their reaction to Mr. Eisenhower's second-term announcement ranged from outright defeatism in some quarters to cheers in others. The cheers came from those who said they now would face the man who alone must take responsibility next November for the Eisenhower administration record.

"We can lick anybody they put up," said former President Truman.

The Democrats approached the campaign with one eye on Mr. Eisenhower's health and the other on the farm vote. The Republicans felt that neither issue would mean much against their "peace and prosperity" campaign with a candidate still riding a crest of popularity in public opinion polls.

Nearly all Democrats emphasized that their 1956 campaign will be a rigorous one questioning whether Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack last fall would permit him to be a full-time president. Whether softly or bluntly, they were making an issue of the President's health.

Their three chief candidates — Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver and New York Gov. Averell Harriman — had all expressed the hope that Mr. Eisenhower could head the 1956 GOP ticket.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler contended that the Democrats were not raising the health issue against Mr. Eisenhower because, he said, the President had made the issue himself. He said the American people will never elect a president who "has had a serious heart attack and who is unable to be a full-time chief executive."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) listened to Mr. Eisenhower's broadcast speech Wednesday night and said "it appears we will have a part-time campaign by a part-time president."

Stevenson said "it is fitting" that Mr. Eisenhower be the GOP candidate and that the President must carry "the burden of what will be a very vigorous campaign."

Harriman said the lines have been drawn on the record of Mr. Eisenhower's administration "for which he must now at last take full responsibility."

"The campaign now can be waged on its merits," said Kefauver, "without mud-slinging but with no punches pulled."

Here are shares of southern Illinois cities on their December business transactions:

Carrier Mills $848, Eldorado $2,267, Galatia $213, Raleigh $63, Stonefort $77, Shawneetown $762, Rosiclare $466, Thompsonville $112, Broughton $32.

Benton $4,270, Cairo $6,503, Carbondale $7,096, Carmi $5,881, Christopher $1,715, Du Quoin $3,940, Herrin $6,246, Johnston City $1,104, Marion $6,935, McLeansboro $2,644, Murphysboro $5,722, Norris City $681, Pinckneyville $2,096, Vienna $1,367, West Frankfort $6,008, Zeigler $588.

Mrs. Charles Hunsinger Named Deputy Treasurer

Maynard Cannon, county treasurer, today announced the appointment of Mrs. Charles Hunsinger as a deputy treasurer in his office. Mrs. Hunsinger resides in Independence township. She succeeds Mrs. Gladys Hawkins, who resigned several weeks ago to go in business at the Midwest Dairy establishment on Raymond avenue.

GOP Chairman Predicts Nixon To Be Renamed

President Consents To Name on Ballots Of Two States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee predicted today that Democratic use of the health issue against President Eisenhower will "boomerang and they will lose votes."

Hall also stuck to his prediction that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be renominated with Mr. Eisenhower.

He made clear that he believes the President is only observing proprieties by withholding an endorsement of Nixon for second place until the chief executive himself is renominated. Some of Nixon's friends, however, feared he is in trouble.

The President himself, having made his decision to stand for reelection, acted promptly to give the people of California and Wisconsin a chance to vote for him in their primaries.

A "Unity" State

He signed this morning legal documents, required by the laws of both states, consenting to the entry of states of delegates pledged to him in the April 3 Wisconsin Republican primary and the June 5 California GOP primary.

In California, a three-way battle had been underway for control of the state GOP delegation if Mr. Eisenhower did not run. Now the Eisenhower "unity" slate will be jointly sponsored by the three erstwhile rivals—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, Vice President Nixon and Sen. William F. Knowland.

Gov. Walter Kohler will head the like slate in Wisconsin.

Hall told a news conference the President's decision Wednesday to seek a second term was greeted from coast to coast "by the greatest outpouring of cheers and expressions of good will we have ever seen."

He said he knows that the GOP will unite behind Mr. Eisenhower to work for a complete GOP victory next November.

Asked what he thought of Democratic use of the health issue against Mr. Eisenhower, Hall said White House frankness in discussing Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from his heart attack was "something the Democrats are not used to."

During the 1944 campaign, he said, the Republicans contemplated use of the health issue against President Roosevelt but concluded that it would be "in bad taste and would boomerang."

"I want to predict right now that the Democrats' attempt to make the President's health an issue will backfire on them and cost them votes," Hall said. "The American people simply will not stand for tactics of that kind."

"Full-Time President"

Asked how the GOP would meet Democratic charges that Mr. Eisenhower is a "part-time" president, he replied that "the record will prove that is untrue... he has been a full-time president."

Hall said he has long predicted an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket for 1956 and that he would "not change that one bit."

"We think it's one of the greatest times in history," he said. Hall said he did not see how anyone could read Mr. Eisenhower's news conference praise of Nixon on Wednesday without sharing his conclusion.

There was considerable opposition to the renomination of Nixon, Hall replied. "We hear of opposition but I don't think it's within the body of the Republican Party."

Some Quick Trips
Hall said Mr. Eisenhower may "take some quick trips" to various parts of the country during the fall campaign but that "barnstorming and whistle stops are out." He would not indicate how many speeches he thinks the President might make outside of Washington.

Powell's Sure Reelection Good News for Illinois

(Chicago News-Gazette, February 16, 1956)

The Johnston City mayor who was preparing to oppose Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna has thought better of it and withdrawn, leaving the powerful Democratic legislator unopposed for renomination and re-election in his deep southern Illinois district.

The assured return of Rep. Powell to Springfield is good for the state. He is a rough-and-tumble political fighter when necessary, but, when the chips are down, he votes his convictions for the welfare of the state rather than partisan advantage.

This district's four legislators of both parties would be the first to testify that there is no more able member of the House than Rep. Powell, whether he's with them or against them on a particular issue. They find him a particularly valuable ally on University of Illinois legislation.

We're glad that he, like they, are assured of working together again in the next session.

Health As an Issue

Editorial By Bruce Bissat
If President Eisenhower should choose to run again, the question will arise whether his health should be an issue in the campaign. Almost certainly it would be, and the indications are he would want it that way.

From the viewpoint of the American people, this is completely fair. Neither the Democrats nor anyone else deserves to be chided for broaching the subject reasonably and responsibly.

Mr. Eisenhower, guided by his own instincts and by the keen judgment of his press secretary, James Hagerty, seems to have understood from the outset that the people are entitled to the fullest disclosures about his illness.

Without that information they cannot truly gauge his performance in office, nor his fitness to continue.

American presidents in past times have fallen ill sometimes gravely. Some made the mistake of trying to conceal the nature and severity of their ailments. President Eisenhower has outdone them all by his candor and thoroughness in speaking out.

Perhaps certain Republicans wish he hadn't said so much. At times he sounded as if he were second-guessing his own doctors, on the gloomy side. Fear exists that he may have given "ammunition" to the political opposition.

No one would imagine his opponents will ignore his own frank utterances in the event he runs. Nor should anyone expect that all those who comment on the President's health will do so moderately and responsibly.

But those who may seek to exaggerate the hazards of his condition, or to portray inaccurately the volume of vital work he can handle, may find such efforts backfiring.

For Mr. Eisenhower has not attempted to fool anybody about this matter of work. To him, it is the crux of the whole situation. A decision to run will mean he is convinced he can meet the stress of the most exacting presidential tasks.

Anyone would be free to argue, of course, that such a decision was not justified in a case like this. But it would be more than show that Mr. Eisenhower had sloughed off such minor duties as greeting visiting firemen, attending dinners and studying routine documents.

The essentials of the presidency lie in those areas of work where the great decisions of policy are made. What would be at issue is his fitness to perform efficiently and energetically in such areas. He understands that, and the prospect is that the American people do, too.

Railroad hopper cars for carrying coal have capacities ranging as high as 102 tons and averaging 50 tons, while the average inland waterway barge for coal hauling has a 1200-ton capacity.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: White House Studying Civil Rights Legislation; Italian Communists Will Get Ammunition From President Gronchi's Visit; Justice Department Had No Grounds For Prosecuting Emmett Till Case.

WASHINGTON. — The Justice Department is planning to step gingerly into the red-hot racial question in the South with a set of recommendations for law enforcement that will probably make both sides sore.

The recommendations will be for stiffer protection of the Negroes' right to vote not only in federal but in state and local elections. If approved by the White House, they will be sent to Congress as the recommendations of President Eisenhower.

As of today, the Justice Department interprets the present law as giving the federal government power to intervene solely in federal elections. Broadening intervention to apply to local elections is sure to set off a furor in some states and will meet vigorous opposition in Congress. However, House Republicans have enough votes, if lined up with northern Democrats to pass such a bill—if they wish. Whether it could get by a Senate filibuster is another matter.

While this legislation is bound to create bitterness in the South, Negroes will claim it does not go far enough. They want immediate intervention in Montgomery, Ala.

BRIDGE VS. ITALY

Italian diplomats are among the most polite and gracious people in Washington, so you won't hear it mentioned above a whisper. However, they are afraid the Communists won't be so courteous about President Eisenhower's failure to give the White House House dinner for visiting President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy.

No one really expected this dinner at first. The Italians knew the President had been ill; so were most agreeable about overlooking a dinner which is strict protocol when the President invites the head of a state to visit him.

What upset things was the fact that one day before President Gronchi arrived, Eisenhower went to a dinner party in celebration of John Foster Dulles' 68th birthday. On top of this came an announcement that Ike had sat up until 12:30 a. m. in Thomasville two nights before, playing bridge.

Naturally, with this appearing in American newspapers it will be picked up immediately by Italian Communists to show that the President of the United States doesn't have enough regard for the President of Italy to put him on a par with bridge and a birthday party.

GRONCHI-GO-ROUND

President Gronchi, who took office without the blessing of Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, has now won her 100 per cent support. She regards him as the great hope of Italy, feels that the President of Italy may become like the President of the United States, a real power, not just a figurehead. . . . Gronchi has injected a vigorous and stabilizing hand into Italian politics, requires cabinet officers to call personally at his office when they want decrees and laws signed. . . . He has traveled all over Italy since assuming office, has kept in close touch with Premier Segni. . . . Mrs. Luce has supported him by switching American aid money to projects which would build up the Italian working classes and win votes away from communism. . . . Gronchi gave up smoking at 63 to strengthen his voice for public speaking. . . . He hates to drive a car, speaks poor English. Mrs. Gronchi speaks better English, loves to drive a car. . . . State Department officials were red-faced about a confidential memo which went the inter-office rounds, explaining that Gronchi's name was pronounced "as in donkey."

EMMETT TILL MURDER

Attorney General Brownell has now taken a definite and official stand that there is no way the Justice Department could have intervened in the Emmett Till murder case in Mississippi.

In reply to a letter from Congressman Clyde Doyle (D., Calif.), Assistant Attorney General Warren Olney, writing for Brownell, states categorically that the Justice Department cannot intervene, also that it cannot intervene in two other Negro murder cases.

"Emmett Louis Till was kidnapped and killed by private individuals," Olney wrote Congressman Doyle, "his body was found within three days of the kidnapping and he was not transported across state lines. These offenses were thus violations of the laws of Mississippi only and not of any federal statute. This department, therefore, had no jurisdiction or authority to take any action in connection with the latter and no investigation was conducted."

Referring to two other murders of Negroes in Mississippi, Olney wrote Congressman Doyle: "We assume that the two 'adult Negro citizens' referred to in the fourth paragraph of your letter are Lamar Smith, who was killed at Brookhaven, Miss., on or about August 12, 1955, and the Reverend George Wesley Lee, who was shot to death at Belzoni, Miss., on or about May 7, 1955."

"Preliminary inquiry in connection with the death of Mr. Lamar Smith showed that he was killed not because of the exercise or the attempt to exercise his right to vote, but in a controversy and fight with private individuals over his alleged illegal manipulation of absentee ballots in a purely local election. Such facts, of course, indicate no offense under federal statutes, and this department has hence been unable to take any action."

"Extensive investigation was conducted with the death of the Reverend George Wesley Lee to determine whether he was killed, as had been alleged, because he insisted upon his right to vote or for the purpose of intimidating others in the exercise of this right. The investigation, despite its thoroughness and dispatch, has failed up to now, to establish the truth of such allegations, or any violation of federal laws."

Concluding his letter, Olney put the Justice Department categorically on record for tighter laws to protect the Negroes' right to vote. "In the opinion of the attorney general," he wrote, "existing federal laws is not sufficient to protect the right to vote as the same is secured or intended to be secured by the Constitution of the United States. Accordingly, the attorney general is preparing to recommend comprehensive legislation in this field to the President for transmission to the Congress. It is believed that such legislation will reach the Congress in time for action at this session."

Top High School Students to Have Interviews at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Top-notch high school students who, because of financial needs, have dim hopes of a higher education will visit Southern Illinois university in April to learn how they can work their way through college.

More than 150 high school principals in the state's southernmost 35 counties have been asked to recommend students for weekend interviews at Southern, according to I. Clark Davis, acting director of student affairs.

During the visits — scheduled April 5-7, April 12-14 and April 26-28 — students will take tests, tour the campus and confer with advisers concerning employment, scholarships and loans.

To be eligible for invitation, students must rank in the upper ten per cent of their class, must not have the financial resources to attend college and must be willing to accept part-time employment.

Dr. Clarence Stephens, director of student employment, has estimated that principals will recommend at least 300 candidates. Of these, from 75 to 90 will be selected for participation in the "working scholarships" plan, which will begin with the 1956 fall quarter.

"This is but one phase of the University's overall financial assistance program," Dr. Stephens said. "In addition to student employment, there are scholarships, prizes, grants-in-aid, private agency awards and student loan funds."

The three week end visitations each will begin at 1 p. m. on Thursday, continuing through Saturday afternoon.

Benton Man Named to Planning Commission

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today named Maurice L. Campbell, Benton, to the State Industrial Planning and Development Commission.

The commission was an agency created by the 1955 Legislature to encourage location of industry and business in Illinois. Campbell succeeds Walter Woodcock of Alton.

There's No Need For Guessing

The main reason why ground limestone or other liming materials are applied to acid soils is to make them more suitable for growing farm crops, particularly alfalfa and the clovers. To be MOST EFFECTIVE, it is HIGHLY IMPORTANT that the LIMESTONE BE OF GOOD QUALITY. It should have a high capacity to neutralize soil acids and be FINE enough to accomplish this within a few weeks.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE is top quality. COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE gives you more plant food per dollar spent than any material money can buy. COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE is 20% finer than 200 mesh—giving you more FINE POWDERY LIMESTONE, which will act quicker in neutralizing soil acidity.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE is high in calcium with sufficient magnesium carbonate for any soil. Let: Ewell Harris, Galatia, Illinois

Ralph Carpenter, Eldorado, Illinois supply you with COLUMBIA AGLIME, the top quality LIMESTONE.

Health Issue Will Boomerang: Hall

Hall pledged the GOP organization to work for victory "all down the line from the White House to the county courthouse." He said the party will have active organizations in all 48 states and will not be a sectional party with no organization in the South.

Hall listed these factors which he said would help Republicans regain control of Congress: First, Mr. Eisenhower's running again "will help greatly;" second, the GOP will have a better organization this year than in 1952; and, finally, it has "a great product to sell."

Hall announced he soon will call a meeting of the national committee, GOP state chairmen, and Republican members in Congress to discuss details of the campaign to be waged next fall.

He said the Republicans now plan to spend more than two million dollars on television and radio campaigning in the fall. He also reported that the total budget for the national committee and the GOP House and Senate Campaign committees for this year will be about seven million dollars.

GOP chieftains were elated by the response to Mr. Eisenhower's decision.

From the moment the decision was flashed around the world at 10:52 A. M. EST Wednesday, a torrent of well-wishing and congratulatory telegrams and messages poured into the White House in the greatest volume since the President's Sept. 24 heart attack. Thousands more flooded in after Mr. Eisenhower went before the American people by radio and television Wednesday night to tell them in person that he is willing—and able—to run and serve if the Republican Party and the people want him.

Let me make one thing clear," the President told the great nationwide audience. "As of this moment, there is not the slightest doubt that I can perform as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency... So far as I am concerned, I am confident I can continue to carry them indefinitely."

"Otherwise, I would never have made the decision I announced today."

Fewer Public Speeches

The President has said he is a "recovered heart patient." This means, he said, that he must eliminate many of the less important social and ceremonial activities of his job. He must cut down on public speeches, office appointments with individuals and with groups, ceremonial dinners, receptions, and some correspondence. And he must reduce the amount of travel.

Then he laid down the conditions for seeking re-nomination and re-election:

"Neither for re-nomination nor re-election would I engage in extensive traveling and in whistle-stop speaking—normally referred to as 'barn-storming.'"

To Republican convention delegates he said "I shall, in general, wage no political campaign in the customary pattern."

He said his chief means of reaching the people "means of mass communication." He said that if the GOP delegates want a nominee who would be a more active campaigner, they would have the right—"indeed the duty"—to choose someone else.

Then, addressing himself to the voters, he said he is determined that "every American shall have all available facts concerning my personal condition and the way I am now conducting the affairs of this office." That way, he said, when the voters go to the polls next November they will have a "full understanding of both the record of this administration and of how I propose to conduct myself now and in the future."

He thus plainly took the offensive to silence in advance, Democratic campaign thunder on the issue of his health.

The children started across the road and the boy was hit by a car driven by Glen Firnkies, Belleville, whose age police did not know. The boy's sister was walking behind him and was not struck by the car.

Firnkies told police he was driving between 50 and 60 miles per hour and didn't see the children until it was too late to stop. Police released him after questioning with orders to attend an inquest here Saturday.

Sen. Russell Asks Slash in Foreign Aid; Use of Funds for Air Force

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sen. Richard M. Russell (D-Ga.) proposed today that foreign aid appropriations be slashed by 1.5 billion dollars and the money be used to assure "the strongest air force in the world" in the years ahead.

Unless Air Force appropriations are increased, Russell predicted in an interview, the United States will wind up with "the second best air force." He said the nation now has "the best air force" but won't if the present plan of austerity is carried much farther.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a senior member of the Appropriations Committee, proposed the cut in the administration's stepped-up foreign aid program as a way to increase Air Force spending and still maintain a balanced federal budget.

Russell, after secret briefings by Air Force leaders, proposed that the Air Force be given 1.5 billion dollars in addition to the 16.5 billion in appropriations budgeted for it by the administration in fiscal 1957. The increase by itself would unbalance the delicately balanced budget for the coming fiscal year.

The administration has requested 4.8 billion dollars in foreign aid funds in the next fiscal year—a

Americans Waste Time in Handling Knife and Fork

United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO (U.P.)—The average American wastes about a half year of his life span because he doesn't know how to handle a knife and fork.

That's what the figures indicate, anyway.

The figures were compiled in a time-motion study conducted by restaurateur Don Roth.

Americans, who pride themselves on their labor-saving techniques, should take a tip from their British cousins, Roth said.

Handling of the knife and fork seems to be the crux of the situation.

Diners who followed the American system of shifting the fork from the left hand to the right after cutting their food took an average of three minutes longer per entrée than did those who used the English or continental technique, in which the face is fed left-handed.

"Don't get me wrong," Roth said. "I don't advocate haste in eating. Mealtime should be a time for relaxation.

System Seems Sensible

But I don't see the point in wasting a lot of motion to conform to some obsolete and false ideas about etiquette.

The time-motion study, conducted at the Blackhawk Restaurant, showed that most Americans could save another three minutes per meal if they cut their food as the Europeans do—all at once rather than bite by bite.

"I don't pretend to know what Emily Post would say about it," Roth said, "but the European system seems sensible."

Another labor saving technique of the English is to put more than one food on the fork at the same time.

For example, a piece of mutton plus mashed potatoes is put on the fork held down with the aid of the knife.

Roth calculates this would save another couple of minutes per meal.

By adopting the British system in all three ways, he said, the average American could save six to eight months in a normal life span of 70 years.

Area Campaign Meeting Held by Cancer Society

The area campaign meeting of the American Cancer Society was held Feb. 27 at the Emerson hotel in Mt. Vernon. It was attended by Mrs. John C. Humin, county chapter chairman, and Mrs. Nelson Pankey, campaign chairman.

Mrs. T. C. Search of Chester, lay member of the board of directors, presided. Dr. John A. Rogers, M. D., state executive director, spoke on "Cancer Control Program." Dr. Rogers gave some encouraging aspects in the fight against cancer. He stated that "threats from cancer among women between 25 and 75 years old have continued to drop, declining more than 10 per cent in a decade. More than 10,000 women with cancer in this country are being saved each year who would have died if so afflicted 10 years ago. Today half of those whom cancer has stricken could and should be saved by early diagnosis and prompt, adequate treatment."

He stressed that "no cancer ever was cured by pills, powders, nor any home remedy, quack or wonder doctor using a secret method of gadget or medicine. Cancer will strike in approximately two of every three American families. Cancer can strike anyone at any age. It can affect children as well as adults. It is number one disease killer of children." He stressed public education as a major part of the campaign program. "No one has ever died of a cancer phobia but many have died of cancer," he concluded.

Drummond C. Bell, state campaign chairman of the 1956 cancer crusade, and who is vice president of Montgomery Ward Co., gave an inspiring talk. He stated that last year 220,000 people died of cancer in our country and at the present rate 26,000,000 Americans will be afflicted. Many will be saved—many not, he said. The national goal is $26,000,000 for 1956—which is $1 for each life. The state goal for Illinois is $1,650,000 and Saline County goal is $4,500.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower is the national chairman and Ed Sullivan is national campaign chairman.

3 Wives Complete Refresher Course In Housekeeping

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Three wives with a total of 23 years of married life behind them recently completed a "refresher course" in housekeeping at Southern Illinois University's Home Management House.

While living for six weeks in the campus laboratory house, the home economics majors practiced setting up budgets, keeping accounts, planning and preparing meals, doing laundry and housecleaning.

At no other time in Southern Illinois have as many as three married students been in the Home Management House "itly" at once, according to Miss Mary Martin, supervisor.

They are Mrs. Marilyn Dahney, Kankakee, senior, Mrs. Pauline Benson, Brookport, and Mrs. Duane Scott, Centralia, graduate students.

Lieutenant to Quit State Police

SPRINGFIELD - Acting State Police Supt. William H. Morris said today Lt. Max Cornell, commander of District 10 headquarters at Urbana, will resign effective April 15 to return to farming.
Morris said no successor had been selected. He said Cornell's successor would have to be a sergeant on the roll of those certified for lieutenant by the State Police Merit Board.
Morris said Cornell was appointed to the force May 1, 1949, promoted to sergeant June 1, 1950, and to lieutenant Nov. 13, 1951.

Knowland Quits Presidential Race

WASHINGTON - Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland formally folded his campaign for the GOP presidential nomination today.
The California senator threw his full support to President Eisenhower and joined in sponsoring a slate of California Republicans pledged to nominate the chief executive for a second term.
But he warned that "the campaign for 1956 must not be taken for granted" just because Mr. Eisenhower has agreed to run.

March Comes In Like a Lamb

By United Press
March came in like a lamb and it felt like spring in most of the nation today.
Temperatures were mild almost everywhere and rose more than 20 degrees from zero levels in the northern Plains. Elsewhere, temperatures went up 15 to 20 degrees through the Mississippi Valley and eastward to the Ohio Valley.
Fair skies accompanied the warm weather in most areas, except for rains in western Washington and Oregon. Even these were light.

Seek Higher Taxes For Heavy Trucks In Highway Program

WASHINGTON - Republicans, responding to complaints from motorist clubs, moved today to revamp the Democratic highway program to put higher taxes on big heavy trucks.
The Republican proposal appeared to have a good chance of picking up enough Democratic votes to win approval today of the House Ways and Means Committee.
The committee was called behind closed doors today for a final showdown vote on the tax-boosting legislation. The group is composed of 15 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

Graduate Program At SIU To Offer Minor in Mathematics

CARBONDALE, Ill. - A graduate level program offering a minor in mathematics will be instituted in the 1956 summer term at Southern Illinois university, according to W. C. McDaniel, chairman of the SIU mathematics department.
Plans call for a three-year rotation of summer term courses designed to provide graduate work for high school teachers who have undergraduate minors in mathematics or who received undergraduate majors in this field several years ago. Admission will be on an individual basis, McDaniel said.
Two three-hour courses, one in algebra (Math 440) and the other in numbers theory (Math 425), will be offered for the summer session beginning June 18.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By JAMES F. CARPENTIER
Editor, Daily Register

Some motorists take lightly the task of parking a vehicle, not realizing that it is an important part of the operation of a vehicle. Not only is the actual parking of a vehicle important, but choosing the spot where the vehicle is to be parked is also very important. A review of that part of the law (Section 90, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic) stating where vehicles must not be parked may aid many of us from violating it.
The law states that a vehicle may not be parked, except when necessary to avoid conflict with other traffic or in compliance with the directions of a police officer or traffic control device in any of the following places: On a sidewalk, a crosswalk, or the roadway side of any street or highway at the edge or curb of a street or upon any bridge or other elevated structure upon a highway or within a highway tunnel. It is also illegal to park in front of a public or private driveway, or between a safety zone and the adjacent curb or within 30 feet of points on the curb immediately opposite the ends of a safety zone unless a different length is indicated.

It is also against the law to park within an intersection, within 15 feet of a fire hydrant, 20 feet of a crosswalk at an intersection, 30 feet of a traffic control signal located at the side of a roadway, or 50 feet of the nearest rail of a railroad grade crossing. Parking is not allowed within 20 feet of the driveway entrance of any fire station, nor alongside or opposite any street excavation or obstruction when such parking would obstruct traffic, and of course where official signs prohibit parking.
A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Ike Places 'My Mamie' At His Side After Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—With outstretched hand, President Eisenhower Wednesday night placed "my Mamie" just where she will be in the campaign months ahead—by his side.

The public only got a glimpse of the First Lady during the President's television talk. It came when, at Mr. Eisenhower's bidding, she momentarily stood by his side before the cameras at the conclusion of the telecast. But earlier Mrs. Eisenhower was giving the President moral support while sitting just out of camera range during his speech.

Her eyes never left his face. And when he finished and beckoned her to join him, she grasped his hand with a tremulous smile that gave away her feelings.

Wednesday, in response to a flood of inquiries for her reaction to the President's decision, Mrs. Eisenhower relayed to reporters that she would be at the President's side when he addressed the nation, just as she always has been.

The President saw to it that she was. The woman President Eisenhower has called "invaluable and indispensable" looked very much in those few minutes as her close friends and the President himself have pictured her: "Very happily" accepting her husband's decision.

The earth is about 197,000,000 square miles, about 70 per cent water and 30 per cent land.

Basic English has a vocabulary of only 850 words, consisting of 600 nouns, 150 adjectives, and 100 "operation" words.

Elderly Man Dies In Hotel Fire

MARENGO, Ill. (AP)—Fire whipped through a hotel early today killing an elderly man and forcing 22 persons to flee.

Fire Chief Norman Piskie said the blaze apparently started in the room of Walter R. Shafer, 79, at the fear of the second floor of the two-story Majestic Hotel.

A tenant said Shafer ran into the hallway screaming "a chair's on fire." Other hotel guests began fleeing the building and tried to take Shafer with them.

He apparently became confused and ran back into another room. Firemen located his body three hours later.

New Dep't of Personnel Seeks 'Pro' Director

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The newly organized advisory board of the Department of Personnel today sought office space, a stenographer and a $12,000 a year "professional" director.

The board met Wednesday and was told by Gov. William G. Stratton that he wanted its help in seeking and screening candidates for director of the new department, created to supervise employment of most of the state's 45,000 employees.

The board elected Ward C. Castle, Hinsdale, as chairman, and James W. Winning, Springfield, as secretary. Winning was an assistant to House Speaker Warren L. Wood (R-Plainfield), chief sponsor of the new personnel code.

Stratton said the board should try to interest "professional" personnel supervisors from private industry in the post but should not exclude persons now in state employment from consideration. He said women should also be considered for the job.

The governor said it is "almost mandatory" that the director be an Illinois resident. He asked the board to boil down its choices to "five or six" and then "we can sit down and go over the list."

Stratton said it is the governor's job to appoint the director but he would "not recommend or approve anyone without consulting with the board."

The new personnel department will administer procurement, qualification and classification of state employees under the governor, with classification and qualification for most jobs handled by the Civil Service Commission, retained under the new system only to handle appeals.

Future of Nixon Placed in Doubt

Eisenhower's repudiation Wednesday of Nixon's recent reference to Chief Justice Earl Warren as a Republican chief justice, Nixon so described Mr. Warren in remarking on the Supreme Court's racial integration ruling.

Nixon is primarily on the spot, however, because of public awareness of Mr. Eisenhower's September heart attack. The fact of that seizure inescapably leads to unusual speculation whether the President would survive to complete a second term. Moreover, the President is 65 years old and would be 70 on leaving office after a second term.

Nixon has been an acutely controversial political figure from the outset of his congressional career when he was a prime factor in the exposure which led to the conviction of Alger Hiss on perjury charges growing out of denial of his association with the Communist Party.

Some of Mr. Eisenhower's close friends are urging that he be dropped lest millions of persons bolt the Republican presidential ticket this year in protest against the possibility that Nixon might succeed to the White House.

The stop-Nixon forces need a substitute with two vital qualifications. First, he should have national stature and, second, he should be capable of carrying the 1956 campaign load. Mr. Eisenhower intends a minimum of campaigning.

That's where Dewey comes in. Mr. Eisenhower accepted Nixon almost sight unseen in 1952 as his vice presidential running mate. This was very largely on Dewey's recommendation.

Dewey is on record among his friends as saying that he does not want the vice presidential nomination and that he does not believe Mr. Eisenhower will permit Nixon to be benched. But when pressed for an answer to an iffy question—suppose Nixon were benched—he has said, substantially, this:

Yes, if I were asked to run for the vice presidency and if I were convinced that this would contribute measurably to the chances for success of the Republican Party, I would accept the nomination.

Circulation of Newspapers Breaks All Records

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Newspaper circulation in the United States broke all records last year in spite of newsprint shortages, according to the 88th annual edition of N. W. Ayer & Son's directory of newspapers and periodicals.

Circulation of English-language dailies climbed to 55,837,000, nearly 1,000,000 copies a day more than the previous year, the directory stated. The increase was the largest in five years.

At the same time the directory said there was a slight drop in the number of daily newspapers because of a merger trend.

San Francisco Busy Lining Up Rooms for GOP

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Planning to be in San Francisco next August? If so, you'd better get your hotel reservations now or you may wind up sleeping in the park.

That is, unless you're a member of the official Republican family attending the GOP National Convention which opens here Aug. 20. Officials responsible for making hotel arrangements for the expected 30,000 to 40,000 GOP visitors and newsmen said there would be no problem.

The hotel situation will be a bit tight, of course, but nobody feels it will be necessary to lodge delegates in Pullman cars or aboard ships in the bay as some pessimists predicted when San Francisco was chosen as the convention site.

(Franklin D. Roosevelt had headquarters aboard the battleship New York when the Democrats held their convention here in 1920, but he was assistant secretary of the Navy then.)

Harold M. Strong, secretary of San Francisco's convention and visitor's bureau, said between 9,000 and 10,000 rooms already have been contracted for in more than 150 hotels.

Allotment Problem
 He foresaw no trouble lining up the few remaining rooms needed for the 10,000 total guaranteed by the city when it made its successful bid for the convention last year.

"The only difficulty will be over the allotment of rooms," Strong said. "Convention headquarters will be at the Fairmont and Mark Hopkins Hotels on Nob Hill, and everyone is going to want to stay at one or the other."

That's not Strong's problem, however. It belongs to Ted Dalton of Radford, Va., chairman of the convention's housing committee.

Actually, the hotels lose money on a big convention such as the GOP jamboree, Strong said. During a normal tourist season they are 99 per cent full. But when they contract to have a block of rooms ready at a certain time it means that many rooms stay empty for several days before the deadline because the management can't accept any long-term guests. Nor can it force paying guests to leave against their will.

And when the convention ends, the hotel is suddenly left with a flock of empty rooms which take several days to fill up again. It will be more profitable for the huge Cow Palace where the convention meetings will be held. The state-owned building will cost the Republicans $1,000 a day for rent alone. The management also has reserved all food and drink concessions (no liquor).

Cool Breeze
 The Cow Palace, built by the WPA in the late 1930's, is noteworthy for both its name and size.

Its name is a controversial topic in newspaper letters-to-the-editor columns. Some San Franciscans think it undignified. It was coined many years ago by a brevity-minded reporter who rebelled at writing "The Grand National Livestock Exposition Building of the No. 1-A District Agricultural Association."

As for size, the management says the huge Quonset-like structure could lose Madison Square Garden inside. Hard-top auto races were run there last year, marking the first time they had been held indoors anywhere.

The Cow Palace, which, incidentally, is a few feet outside the south city limits, is situated in Visitacion Valley in the path of cool ocean breezes. The climate factor found favor with President Eisenhower and other GOP veterans who sweltered at the Chicago convention four years ago.

Will Vantrease is on the sick list at present.

Delmond Weir of St. Louis spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cressie Weir.

GOP Against Taking

Campaign for Granted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) warned Republicans today that despite President Eisenhower's decision to run for re-election "the campaign for 1956 must not be taken for granted."

"Those who remember the campaign of 1948 know that it is very dangerous to take any election for granted," the Senate GOP leader said.

"With a forthright, vigorous campaign I believe that President Eisenhower will be re-elected in 1956," Knowland said in a statement for United Press-Motivone Television News.

30 Players Still Hold Out as Training Opens

By United Press

It's baseball time in America once again as the big league teams officially open their spring training season today with hopes gleaming brightly and last year's failures forgotten under the balmy skies of the sunny Southland.

The rookies have been drilling for a couple of weeks, with a few veterans getting in some advance voluntary work. But March 1 is the official start and the day the "varsity" players are due to report.

Players not on hand for the first drills become officially regarded as holdouts, and there were 20 players in the running for that label. Some of these were expected to make a hasty scribble on the dotted line and grab a bat today, but some were darn serious about their holdout.

The Cleveland Indians frankly admitted that both Gene Woodling and Bobby Avila were in the "serious" class. General Manager Hank Greenberg got caught when he announced Woodling had signed—an assumption he jumped to when he heard Gene had arrived in camp. Balks At Out

The 33-year-old outfielder quickly set the record straight, balking again at a $23,000 pact that represented a big cut and today he was talking about going home to Clifton, N. J. Avila, former American League batting champ who staged a long holdout last spring, still is in Mexico — and silent.

The Yankees were waiting for early word today on whether lefty ace Whitey Ford will accept their latest offer, a $6,000 raise and $28,000. Chances were Whitey would say "yes," and that spark-plug Billy Martin would sign when he arrives in camp today. But pitcher Jim Konstanty was insisting he shouldn't be judged salary-wise on last year's record and outfielder Irv Noren left camp after rejecting the Yanks' offer.

General Manager John Quinn of the Milwaukee Braves admitted his club has its first serious holdout problem since switching from Boston to Milwaukee. First baseman George Crowe indicated by phone from New York he'll wait a "long time" before accepting Quinn's offer; rookie outfielder Wes Covington keeps writing letters that add up to "no"; and infielder Jack Dittmer doesn't even write, leading some folks to wonder if he's quitting.

Two Tiger Holdouts

All-star shortstop Harvey Kuenn and first baseman Earl Torgeson still were outside the Detroit fold, and outfielder Bob Clemente was ignoring Pittsburgh's pact. Rookie shortstop Chico Fernandez of Brooklyn, who thinks he should get $2,000 more than other rookies, is staying home in Cuba.

Three Phillies were unsigned, but the club wasn't worried. Southpaw Curt Simmons was waiting by mutual agreement to see how his arm reacts before dickered, and pitcher Bob Miller and Gus Niarhos were expected to sign today. And pitcher John Andre of the Chicago Cubs said he'd sign as soon as he gets to the camp.

The Baltimore Orioles still are missing Dave Philley, and outfielder Roy Sievers was outside the Washington Senators' fold, along with infielder Tony Roig.

The New York Giants are all signed, but that doesn't mean they're all in the camp at Phoenix, Ariz.

Manager Bill Rigney would like to see his Latin American pitchers, Ruben Gomez from Puerto Rico and Ramon Monzant from Venezuela. Gomez was reported en route. Monzant said he wasn't even ready to leave home, yet. Seems like his visa hasn't come through, and besides his mother is sick. Rigney isn't convinced.

Mt. Carmel Aces Upset Mt. Vernon Rams, 57-56, in Regional Overtime Tilt

By United Press

Mount Carmel's Golden Aces gained sweet revenge and the biggest upset of Illinois high school regional tournament basketball Wednesday night, downing Mount Vernon in overtime, 57-56.

Two years ago when the Aces were led by their great center, Archie Dees, Mount Vernon beat Mount Carmel in the sectional tournament final, and went on to win the state championship at Champaign. The margin of that Mount Vernon victory was 70-69.

Belleville pulled another surprise in Wednesday night play, running over East St. Louis 90-77. Belleville had a 14-14 record going into the game while East St. Louis was 16-6.

Both the Belleville and Mount Carmel victories came in regional semifinals.

In other semifinal contests: Unbeaten Shawneetown, 28-0, playing at McLeansboro, went into the finals with an 86-67 win over Harrisburg. Shawneetown is ranked 10th. Lincoln, rated ninth, ousted district tourney winner Hartsburg-Emden 82-61.

Champion Rockford West, favored to win the state title again, flattened Rockford Harlem 94-62. It was West's 21st victory against a single loss.

La Grange nipped Riverside-Brookfield 37-36. Midstate champion Litchfield overpowered Carlinville 81-54. Rantoul dashed the hopes of district winner Roberts-Thawville 61-51 at Gibson City.

La Salle-Peru, runner-up to Rockford West in the Big Eight Conference, tripped Princeton 66-33 at Peru. At Ottawa, Streator went into the finals by trouncing the host club 61-51.

In first round regional games, Springfield and Peoria teams had winning nights.

At Springfield, Lanphier had too much speed and height for Ball Township, winning 87-65. Springfield outlasted a hustling Auburn team 57-50.

At Pekin, Peoria Limestone humbled Deer Creek-Mackinaw 88-43, and Peoria Manual blasted Delevan 55-40.

Two other highly regarded Peoria clubs advanced to the finals: Central, rated sixth in the state, breezing by Roanoke, a district champ, 84-47, and Spalding, with a 21-3 record, whipping Cuba,

28th Win in Row for Indians; Will Play in Finals Tomorrow Night

Carrier Mills and McLeansboro Meet In Semifinal Tonight

Shawneetown made it 28 in a row by beating Harrisburg, 86-67, last night in a semifinal of the McLeansboro regional basketball tournament and will meet the winner of tonight's Carrier Mills-McLeansboro contest in the championship game tomorrow night.

A lone semifinal game was played last night and it will be a single semifinal again tonight when Carrier Mills and McLeansboro meet at 7:30.

The tourney winner will face the winner of the Fairfield regional in the Harrisburg sectional here next Wednesday evening.

Harrisburg looked good a lot of the time against Shawneetown but had to succumb to the superior rebounding and shooting of the Indians, beaten but once the past two years and then in the second round of the state finals at Champaign.

Indians Shoot .530

The two Jacks, Nolen and Drone, and Al Gunzel all did a remarkable job of shooting for Coach Darwin Vatter's boys, with Gunzel high with 23, Nolen with 22, and Drone with 19.

For Harrisburg Wayne Stone was high with 17, followed by Tony Beal's 13 and Bill Henshaw's 12.

As an example of the remarkable shooting by the Indians, who if they didn't make the bucket the first time would get it on the rebound time after time, shot a dazzling .530 for the game.

Harrisburg shot a good .349 by coming back strong the second half after hitting only .250 for the first two quarters.

The Bull Dogs put up a superior defense the first part of the game but could not hit the basket themselves although getting good shots. In the first four minutes of the contest each team shot five times. Shawneetown connecting with three and Harrisburg with none. That gave the Indians a 6-0 lead which they ran up to 9-0 before Ronnie Williams hit two free throws with but two minutes and 47 seconds left in the period. First field goal, by Stone, came with two minutes remaining.

Dukes Upset Dayton, 87-86

By United Press

Some folks have been saying that Duquesne is in the National Invitation Tournament field "on a pass," but a rousing upset of high-ranked Dayton served as blunt mean business in defense of their NIT crown.

Dayton, the nation's No. 2 team, figures to be top-seeded for this year's tourney starting on March 17, but Duquesne whipped the Flyers, 87-86, Wednesday night on a stunning performance by All-American Si Green.

Green racked up a total of 40 points in the fray at Pittsburgh and his driving layup with five seconds left proved the winning goal. The Dukes, who have a dull 14-9 record that little becomes a tourney team, thus avenged an early season loss to Dayton and reminded the experts they beat these same Flyers, 70-58, in last year's NIT finals.

Seven-foot Bill Uhl tallied 30 points in vain for Dayton as the Flyers suffered their third loss in 25 games.

On the NCAA tournament front, Texas Tech and Manhattan College became the 12th and 13th teams to gain berths in the 25-team carnival starting at various sites March 12—Texas Tech by clinching the Border Conference championship and Manhattan by invitation as a "member at large."

JUST LIKE THE BIG BOYS—When the McKinley sixth grade basketball team won its championship game Tuesday afternoon, the boys rushed to the bench and after considerable effort and much coaxing, hoisted their coach, Eugene Morris, to their shoulders and carried him across the floor. It was true championship spirit, but the boys almost couldn't carry it off physically. Morris was badly bent in the middle but the players kept his head and feet well above the floor. ### Michigan Man Named Forestry Marketing Specialist

William Stump of Lansing, Mich., has been appointed as regional utilization and marketing specialist with the division of state and private forestry, U. S. Forest Service in Milwaukee, Wis. This was announced today by Regional Forester H. Dean Cochran.

Mr. Stump is employed in the cooperative forest management section. The program of this section is one of cooperating with state and federal agencies in promoting better forest management practices and obtaining better utilization of the timber resources on private and public lands in the 9 states of the midwestern region.

As a technical consultant to state forestry departments within the 9 states of North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Missouri, Mr. Stump will consult with and train service foresters (formerly known as farm foresters) in dealing with specific problems of logging, milling, grading, utilizing, and marketing lumber. Emphasis will be placed on methods of manufacturing wooden products from low-quality or little-used species which are in abundant supply in the region.

Mr. Stump has a background of experience in lumber industries, forestry extension, farm forestry, logging and sawmilling, utilization studies, and public relations in Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Air Force Fears Shortage of Men, Funds Cutting Into Flying Safety

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force officers fear that a shortage of men and money to maintain airplanes is cutting into flying safety.

A rash of recent air crashes, involving many types of planes both old and new, has heightened their concern. The causes of these accidents are not yet definitely known, but airmen are worried that maintenance problems are a factor.

The safety issue has become so sensitive that the Air Force at least temporarily has clamped a secrecy label on accident statistics making any immediate comparison between present and past periods impossible.

Secrecy was carried to the point Tuesday that a spokesman had to say he could not provide a list of accidents and fatalities that have occurred so far this year. The argument was made that figures on total number of accidents would aid the Russians.

Air Safety Problem

Nevertheless, published reports would seem enough to show that the air arm is grappling with a safety problem. And Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff, has indicated as much to a Senate committee.

Since Jan. 4, there have been at least seven major accidents which killed 28 airmen. Another was averted last week when a C124 Globemaster limped into Iceland with two of its four engines dead.

The accidents involved seven different plane types, so the fault cannot lie with defects in any particular model. Types ranged from the C47 transport, designed in 1935, to the ultra-modern B32 bomber and F101 Voodoo supersonic fighter.

On Jan. 4 at Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, S. D., a B32 Superbomber landed afire but the crew escaped. Six days later a Voodoo crashed, killing a test pilot at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

Explosion Cause Traced

A B32 had an explosion at high altitude near Tracy, Calif., on Feb. 16 and four of its eight occupants were killed. The Air Force announced Tuesday that an "electrical system malfunction" apparently caused that one.

Eldorado Man Low Bidder on Two School Buildings

Stanley Edmister of Eldorado was low bidder on the general contract to build two school buildings in Williamson county—at Dykersburg and in Arnold community.

The bids were opened Saturday night at Crab Orchard. The buildings will be identical—four rooms with gym and cafeteria. Total cost of the buildings will be $106,000.

Ivor Evans of Christopher was low for plumbing and heating and Crist Electric Co. of Marion was low for the electrical work.

R. D. Brown of Harrisburg is the architect for the projects. Contracts will be signed Saturday evening.

60 SIU Students to Participate in Geography Field Trip

Sixty Southern Illinois university students will participate in a geography department field trip in southern Illinois March 3.

Dallas Price, geography faculty member who will direct the group, says the students will go by bus to points of geographic interest in the area, studying physical features of the Mississippi river lowlands and the Ozark uplift in the Pine Hills-Aito Pass region. The students are enrolled in a course, entitled Physical Geography.

Included among those making the trip will be Sally Russler, 705 South McKinley, Harrisburg, and Charles Hart, RFD 3, Eldorado.

Head of State Bureau of Identification And Investigation Real-Life Dick Tracy

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—James Christensen, a tall, balding veteran of police work, is Illinois' real-life Dick Tracy.

Christensen supervises the State Bureau of Identification and Investigation, which was set up in 1931 with a staff of four to help county and local law enforcement agencies. It is one of the divisions under State Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb.

Today, the bureau has a crew of 28. Its work now is in two main areas — fingerprint identification and scientific criminal investigation.

What kind of crime detection does the bureau handle? In his last annual report, Christensen included 25 cases of firearms identification, 8 blood checks, 22 chemical analyses, 58 handwriting identifications, 600 lie tests and hundreds of other jobs.

Variety of Cases

The work was done in cases involving robbery, murder, rape, burglary, confidence games, forgery and other crimes.

In addition, the bureau has on file more than a million sets of fingerprints and keeps records on hundreds of at-large suspects.

Christensen's files are full of cases to match anything in detective stories. He told of one case in which a farmer plowed up a human skeleton, along with meager evidence including a pair of shoes, a pocketknife and a belt.

Bureau agents sifted the earth where the skeleton was discovered. They found all the teeth from the body, which they inserted into the unearthed jawbone. The skeleton was then reconstructed and was found to fit the general description of a missing man. Dental charts were obtained and positive identification was made from the reconstructed jawbone.

Science Detects Crime

Christensen said local agencies are becoming "more and more aware" of the possibilities of scientific crime detection. And he said his bureau receives "fine cooperation" from most Illinois sheriffs and police forces.

He said the bureau, once called into an investigation, will stick with a case "as long as they want us to."

Christensen, 57, started police work as a guard at Pontiac State Prison. He began learning fingerprint methods and crime photography at this time, and came to the bureau when it was founded.

He left in 1935 to head the McLean County Bureau of Criminal Identification, moved to chief of plant protection at Lincoln Ordnance Depot in 1942, and returned to the state bureau in 1943. He has been superintendent since 1950.

An elaborate locomotive and car-testing plant is being constructed on British Railways to obtain exact information of the performance of rolling stock at a wide range of speed in all weather and track conditions.

State to Open Bids on Harco Road Project

Bids will be opened at Springfield March 9 on a project to construct 2.28 miles of bituminous surface treatment on soil cement base course from Harco south on the Harco road.

Paving on this stretch will complete the pavement from Route 13 west of Harrisburg north to Route 34 west of Galatia.

Bids also will be opened for two other southern Illinois projects. They are:

Edwards and White counties: Furnish and install flashing beacon traffic signals at two intersections—Illinois Route 130 with Illinois Route 1 in Grayville, and U. S. Route 460 with U. S. Route 45 south of Enfield.

Johnson county: Landscape 3.91 miles of U. S. Route 45 from approximately one and a half miles south of Tunnel Hill southwesterly to approximately one and a half miles north of Vienna.

Billy Graham Tells Missionaries in Japan Reasons for His Ministry

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press
Staff Writer

OSAKA, Japan — Billy Graham intended to talk on evangelism but never got around to it.

About twelve hundred missionaries from every city and village in southern Japan were gathered at Osaka to hear the young preacher most of the missionaries had prayed for but few had seen. A large majority of the missionaries were from America.

Billy announced his text and then started talking about something else. It was very informal. He was among home folk who loved God enough to leave their loved ones for Him.

"Bless your hearts. You should be preaching to me. Your devotion and sacrifices have been far greater than mine." He told them about great crowds that came to hear the Gospel of Christ in Great Britain, Europe and India.

And then he said: "I want to tell you something that I haven't told others on this trip around the world. I feel tonight as if my ministry is going to be very brief. My name has appeared in too many newspapers. It has been placed on too many posters. There has been too much praise given to a man and the Bible says God will not share His glory with any man."

He added, "If there are any newspapers in heaven the name of Billy Graham will not be on the front page. Headlines will be about some unknown missionary back in the jungles who has been faithful."

After telling about the big crowds attending the meetings he discussed some of the reasons for his unusual ministry. He said:

"The Number One thing has been prayer. People around the world have prayed. God answers prayer. The great need on the mission field today is not a new method or more money even though we don't give enough. The big need is more prayer from folks at home. They should join you in

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

saturation of the work with prayer.

"The second reason for our success has been the power of the Holy Spirit. A human being can take another just so far toward heaven. God's spirit must do the rest. All of us need to be filled with the Holy Spirit. There were only 120 people at Pentecost but they went out and shook the world in one generation. We have more of everything they had, except one. They were filled with the Holy Spirit.

"The message is important—not the messenger. The trouble with many preachers today is that they are too proud to preach the simple Gospel that people can understand. I used to be too proud myself. I have found that I cannot win anybody for Christ unless I preach about the cross on which He died. There is a power in the cross that is found in no other place in the Bible. And I have found that I must preach the resurrection. Christ didn't stay in the grave. He rose again. I worship a triumphant, living Christ. Some of us Christians go around with long faces as if we are attending a funeral.

"Another thing that revolutionized my ministry was the day I accepted the Bible as God's inspired word. Back in 1946, '47 and '48 I had doubts about some parts of the Bible. And when I preached I had no power. I fell on my knees and told God I was going to get out of the ministry unless I found a message with power. From that day I have accepted the Bible as God's inspired word to man and have preached it with authority.

"These are unusual days. The Spirit of God is moving across the nations of the world in a way never seen before. It is easier to talk with people about Jesus Christ today than any time in living memory. I wouldn't trade places with the Apostle Paul or any of the others who lived in the past. This is God's hour for the church. Let's be faithful to the task God has called us to do."

He seemed to be a different Billy Graham as he talked with the missionaries. Maybe they can hear the address on evangelism

Gallatin 4-H Activities to Begin in March

Gallatin county 4-H activities, inactive during the winter months, will get underway in March, Earl Lutz, Gallatin county farm adviser, has announced.

For the past three years Gallatin 4-H clubs have actively participated in electrical projects and plans have been completed for another year's program.

The first instructional meeting will be held March 13 with others to follow March 20, March 29, April 3 and April 10.

Electric power companies throughout the state cooperate with 4-H groups by furnishing instructors to get the program started and the Southeastern Illinois Electric Co-op works closely with the Gallatin county groups Mr. Lutz stated.

Instructors from the REA will be Joe Ladley and Kenneth Irvin it has been announced.

"When the first program was started three years ago in Gallatin county 40 boys participated. Continuing to a more advanced phase the second year 22 of the boys returned and there were 17 of the original group that finished the three-year course last summer."

This year the program will commence anew, with a beginners' program.

Instructions are confined to things that would be practical about the farm.

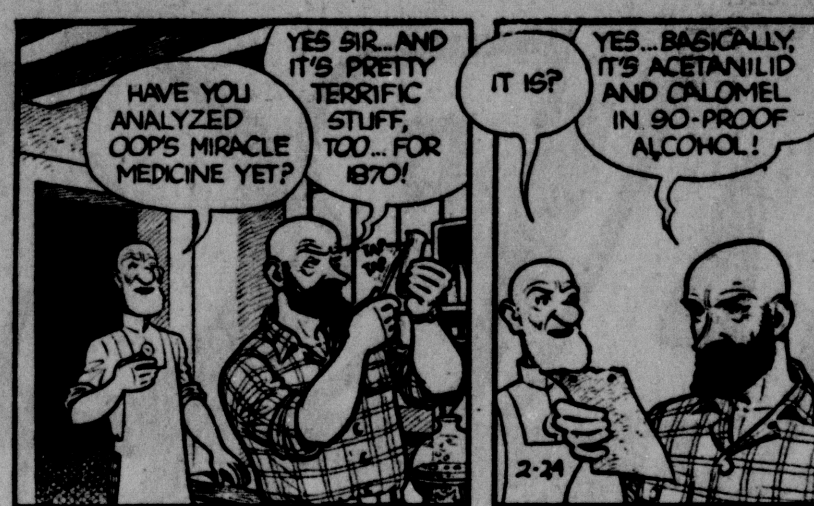

March 22, at the Ridgway school, the annual 4-H Leader banquet will be held. This annual affair, to recognize leaders for past accomplishments and plan for the future, is co-sponsored by the Gallatin County Farm Bureau Home Bureau and the Ridgway Future Home Makers of America.

Mrs. Robert Walker is the Ridgway high school home economics instructor and FHA adviser.

I pointed at the kitchen door. "I was going to dig out the slug that almost hit me, but I guess it's not much use. It'll be from the same 22 rifle."

"I suppose so," he said heavily. "I'll get it anyway. Horace can lig it out when he comes back from Steel City."

"With the kids' rifles and the ballistics reports?"

"Wild goose rifles," he said bleakly. "What kid would want to kill Alice? She wasn't no school-teacher." He smiled grimly and gazed at the barn. "But you'd think he'd have enough sense to collect all the slug cases, seeing as he was toxy enough to rig that target and all."

"Maybe he didn't have time," I said. "When I arrived, he had just killed Alice — she was still warm — and after he took a shot at me he probably got flustered and scooted. Maybe he figured I'd spotted him—I remember hearing a noise by the barn, but I didn't see anything. He was cautious and smart enough to pick up all the cases from the bullets he fired at the target—that's why we couldn't find any." I clicked the brass cases in my hand, as if they were a pair of dice. "These he forgot—or didn't have time to collect."

The sheriff sighed again. "Yes," he said, "but he'll remember and maybe he'll come back to get 'em."

"I thought of that," I said. "He might, just to be on the safe side. How about a stake-out?"

"Stake-out?" he said softly. "That ain't no boorocrat word, son. You worked on a police force someplace?"

"Never mind, Sheriff," I said, smiling at him. "Just take my word that I'm an employee of the Industrial Welfare Commission."

"You work for a private agency?"

"That's right. I'm just sort of loaned out now."

"Big time, huh?" He was watching me narrowly.

"It's a big agency, yes. I've been with them for 20 years."

He took a deep breath. "And you figure Alice was murdered?"

I nodded. "How about planting some empty .22 cases by the barn, sort of decoys?"

He gazed at the barn. "Good idea. When Horace gets back, he can hide in the house and keep watch out the kitchen window. I'll bring him out, so there won't be any car around to give him away."

Slowly he swung his gaze back to me and caught me in the act of tenderly touching the tape on the back of my neck. "Got a boil?" he asked.

I told him what had happened the night before, and showed him the bullet I'd dug from the car seat. He rolled it around in his bony, tobacco-stained fingers. "Thirty-three," he said. "Probably from a carbine."

"Ambushed," I tried to grin, but the memory of the bullet made it a weak attempt.

His gaze was steady and he said evenly, "This is my county, and I don't like things like that."

"The feeling is mutual, I'm sure."

"Some nut," he said. "Some screwball loose with a gun."

"Two guns," I corrected him. "A .22 and a 30-30."

"You think it ties together? What happened to you and Alice last night?"

"Sheriff," I said, "it happened to me twice. I nodded at the back porch. 'Up there yesterday morning and on the road last night. Twice is enough. I'm going after him.'"

I wasn't all stirred up about it; I was just worried and quietly and desperately scared. I couldn't run away, because I had to stay here and finish my job for the state. And I wanted to stop a third bullet from being fired. If I could.

The sheriff's office and the county jail were housed in a small brick building behind the courthouse a block from the square. The deputy, Horace, was there when I arrived.

The sheriff had a bottle on his desk, two glasses, a pitcher of water and a meager supply of ice cubes in a pie tin. As I entered, Horace was saying, "So that's it, Abner. The slug don't match any of the rifles." He saw me. "Hello," he said.

"Hi, Horace."

He grinned, and said to the sheriff, "Can I go now, Abner? Joanie's folks asked me for Sunday chicken dinner."

"Go ahead, but I want you back here for a stake-out job."

"Stake-out?" Horace looked bewildered.

"Yes," the sheriff said shortly. "I'll explain later." He glanced at an electric clock on the wall. "You be back here at 1 o'clock. You can eat plenty of chicken in an hour."

"Aw, Abner," Horace protested, "Joanie and me figured on going to the ball game in Steel City. It's a double-header, and—"

"Not today," the sheriff snapped. "Duty before pleasure."

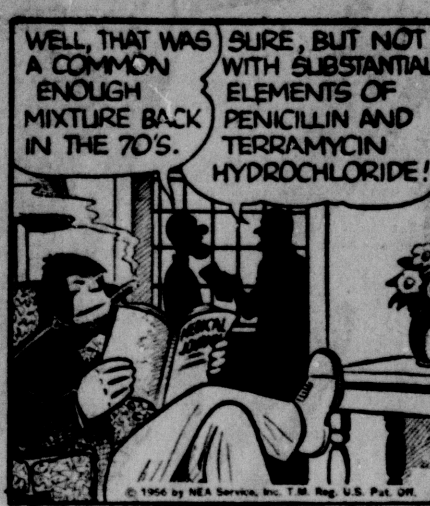

Horace put on his broad-brimmed hat and strode out, slamming the door. The gray cat trotted out of a passageway, which I guessed led back to the cells, and rubbed against my legs, arching her back. I leaned down and scratched her ears.

The sheriff poured whisky into the two glasses, added ice cubes and water, handed me a glass. "This ain't like a regular noon-ner," he said apologetically, "but it's better than nothing."

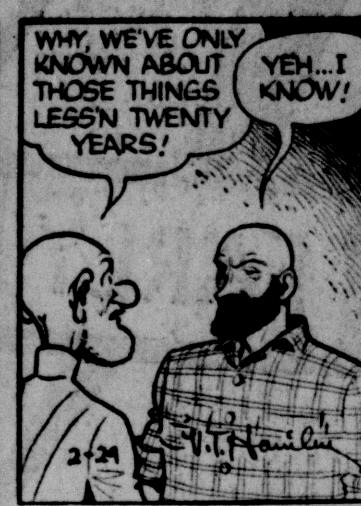

"Suits me," I held up the glass. "Happy days."

He downed half his drink in one thirsty swallow, wiped his mouth with the back of a hand, and pointed across the square at the Tweed

Program, 'For God and Country,' Over WSIL Sunday

The American Legion program, "For God and Country," will be carried over WSIL-TV from 2:30 to 3 p. m. Sunday.

This is part of the Legion's "Back to God" program inaugurated a few years ago, termed one of the most notable endeavors ever undertaken by a secular organization.

Department Adjutant James S. Gwaltney, Harrisburg man writing from his Legion office at Bloomington, writes of the program, which was started with the realization that Americans were drifting away from God, and declares, "Now the tide has apparently turned."

He tells of new churches springing up and more religious activities, and comments:

"Just how much The American Legion had to do with this revival may never be determined. Still it can be said without fear of contradiction, that The American Legion has made a mighty contribution toward awakening Americans to the need for a rebirth of a spiritual life."

Short Feud-Born Railroad Thrives

TOMAHAWK, Wis. — (AP) — A 65-year-old feud with railroad giants has left the 13.9-mile-long Marinette, Tomahawk & Western Railroad none the worse for wear.

Officials of the road expect to haul 3,000 carloads of freight in 1956, about the same amount as in 1955.

The line owes its existence to a stubborn streak of H. T. Bradley, founder of the city of Tomahawk.

Railroad annals duly reported the rise of the M. T. & W.

"The town of Tomahawk was platted in 1886. Four years later, Mr. Bradley and the C. M. St. P. & P. vere at odds, so Mr. Bradley proceeded to build a railroad."

Bradley's railroad was to be a 110-mile line with proud passenger service through northern Wisconsin.

The tracks followed the trail of loggers as they pushed through the forest, but as the timber receded, so did the M. T. & W.

Today, the railroad has 22 employees, one diesel switch locomotive and three steam engines. It is owned by the National Container Corp. and connects with the Soo Line.

Passenger trains of the earlier days have been abandoned and the railroad now serves as a carrier for the container firm and other northern Wisconsin manufacturers.

Three-fourths of Brazil's population is crowded within a 100-mile wide coastal strip.

Thinking It Over—For Lent

By Robt. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
Written for NEA Service

Once upon a time a woman was turned to a pillar of salt because she looked back on the "good old days" with yearning. She was the type of person who saw the past as romantic and wonderful. She was highly critical of the present and deplored the future.

Our American past was not so intriguing. Spiritually, the American people do not have a glowing history. The following statistics indicate no justification for even mentioning "the religion of our forefathers."

In 1800 only 6 per cent of the American population belonged to churches.

In 1850 16 per cent of our ancestors in this country were church members.

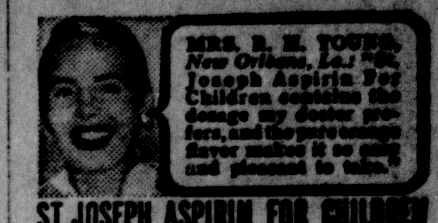

In 1900 the percentage was up to 36 per cent of the population.

But now we find over 60 per cent of our people as members of churches.

Recent figures for 254 religious bodies indicate that there are 97,482,611 persons in the continental United States who are members of some church or synagogue — Protestant, Catholic or Jewish.

America is turning to God — not returning. Let us look ahead with hope and with more contact with God.

You're going to be seeing a brand new product at your grocer's today . . . a product so superior that it carries a guarantee never before made — in all of margarine history. Imperial is the first margarine guaranteed to bring you the tantalizing flavor formerly found only in the expensive spread for bread.

IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR

Flavor is what's been missing in margarine. And flavor is what Lever Brothers devoted seven years to achieve. It wasn't hard to make Imperial spread smoother and easier than any other margarine. And it wasn't hard to make Imperial as nutritious as even the most expensive spread you can buy. The trick was flavor. And Imperial is the first margarine to capture and hold that unmistakable flavor everybody loves.

YOU AGREE—OR LEVER BROTHERS RETURNS YOUR MONEY

We know you may find it hard to believe that a margarine could live up to all we claim for Imperial. So to make it possible for you to try Imperial without any risk, Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees that if Imperial doesn't taste like the high-priced spread to you — they'll return every penny you spent to try it.

P.S. Like the high-priced spread, Imperial is delicate and perishable. So to protect its perfect flavor, always keep Imperial in your refrigerator.
